Hedley 14729 Staff Impression

Hedley is fit from regular weight training and his lifelong participation in sports. His face is oval with a smooth, even jawline. His thick, dark brown hair, deeply-set, hazel eyes, olive complexion, noticeable dimples, well proportioned, medium-sized nose, and broad smile give him a friendly, classically handsome look.

Outgoing, funny, caring, and grounded, Hedley values kindness, respect, and integrity. Friends and family describe him as supportive, adaptable, and enjoyable to be around. His strongest qualities are discipline, empathy, and patience, which help him pursue goals with focus while treating others with understanding and compassion.

With a degree in Business Administration, Hedley approaches life with a practical mindset and an appreciation for straightforward solutions. His enjoyment of hands-on work began in childhood while building a treehouse with his grandfather. Measuring, hammering, and solving problems together left him with a lasting pride in creating things with his own hands.

Outside of work, Hedley enjoys music, video games, great food, and staying active through weightlifting, tennis, and pickleball. His travels through the United States, Canada, Mexico, France, Germany, South Africa, and the United Kingdom have deepened his appreciation for different cultures, local cuisine, and shared experiences. A family safari in South Africa remains one of his favorite adventures, while Italy is high on his travel list for its culture and renowned food.

Hedley works in artist management within the music industry, a role that suits both his organizational strengths and appreciation for creativity. He helps coordinate schedules, support artists, and keep projects moving efficiently while maintaining the personal relationships that make the work rewarding. Reliable and dependable, he follows through on his commitments and enjoys building a career that blends structure with creativity while supporting his goals of travel, personal growth, and financial stability.

Raised in a close and supportive family, Hedley learned the importance of compassion, hard work, perseverance, and showing up for others. His decision to become a donor reflects those values and his desire to make a meaningful and positive contribution to another person's future.